NEW GAPS IN LEVEE INCREASE DANGERS IN FLOOD SECTION

NEW BREACHES IN MISSISSIPPI
EMBANKMENTS THREATENED
AT SEVERAL CRITICAL POINTS.

PLANTERS ARE WARNED

Couriers Patrolling Banks From Cairo to Beyond Memphis Tell Farmers to Move to Highlands—Number of Homeless Increases.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Memphis, Tenn., April 5.—Now breaches in the levees holding back the Mississippi added menace to the flood situation last night and at dawn couriers were on their way along the long stretches of embankment, warning planters out of the danger path.

From Golden Lake fifty miles north of New Madrid, Ark., the condition this morning seems particularly threatening. At New Madrid a stretch of revetment 300 yards long threatens to collapse.

Farmers have abandoned the low lands. Star Landing, Ark., is also in imminent danger and at half a dozen places it is believed the levee south of Cairo might collapse.

Farmers Moving Out.

As far south as Bayou La Batre the low lands outside the main levee are undanted. Farmers have moved their families to town for safety and are

TORRENTS ENROUTE CITIES AS OHIO AND MISSISSIPPI RIVERS OVERFLOW BANKS

Map showing graphically the havoc wrought by the flood.

The flood along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers this year looks as though it would break all records. Several towns have been entirely flooded and thousands of acres of low land are under water.

taking their stock and farm implements to the highlands. The government dredge fleet at Memphis is being utilized in saving life and property.

Gas lanterns were sent out from Kosciusko, Miss., to the villages of Milton and Wyatt to rescue residents of the two villages who are reported to be clinging to the house tops and trees.

In answer to an appeal from Randolph, Tenn., a squad of militia men left Memphis with tents and supplies for refugees.

Strengthless Levees.

Holoman, Ky., April 5.—A picture of utter desolation is presented by the flooded district whether it be a view of the fated city which shelters 3,000 homeless persons or the apparently limitless waste of muddy water that stretches out before them and the thread of levees on which men are waiting with feverish energy to avert the river.

The climax of the catastrophe may come at any moment with the breaking of the Bluffton Levee below here.
Hundreds of men are trying to strengthen it against onrushing flood, and should it go out unexpectedly, it is feared many lives would be lost as men of escape for the workers is limited.

The crest of the river already is washing over the levee in many places and several ominous lakes have been discovered and stopped within the last 24 hours.

May Call Militia.

Thieves are becoming active in the flood section of West Hickman and county authorities are discussing the advisability of asking for a company of militia to protect property.
Refugees continue to arrive in great numbers. Their losses are temporarily obscured by persons suffering and martyrdom.

Mrs. William Venters of Island No.
8, rescued by a launch is almost distracted because her husband and children were left behind having taken refuge in the attic of her home where she says the inhabitants of the island were driven several days ago. She thinks the water must be to the housetops by now.

One woman walked twelve miles in eight hours with six children, she carried the youngest. A family from Missouri spent half a day in rowing across the river in a skiff and the men were nearly exhausted before they got out of the current. A steamer is lying along the river picking up marooned residents.

Provisions Are Rushed.

Stores have been reduced in this manner from previous positions. Three hundred are quartered at Pittsboro, Tenn.

Organized relief work is being carried on here with the means at hand, and no funds are arriving the refugees will be spared at least hardship of hunger. Wagons loads of provisions and bedding have arrived from Holton, Ky., and Union City, Tenn. The Nashville Chattanooga & St. Louis is running trains to East Hickman, a mile away where a temporary station has been erected. On the hill where the tents have been put the women of Hickman are caring for the refugees with food and clothing they are distributing.

Cairo in Panic.

Cairo, April 5.—The buckling of water from the Tenth street draining pump this morning threw the city into a panic and reports spread that the levee which holds the Ohio river out of Cairo had broken at Tenth street. The report proved untrue.
This message is being sent from the Western Union office less than two blocks from the Tenth street levee.

The levees, according to reports of men patrolling them are considered firm and the city is safe.

Whole Family Drowned.

William Lynn, wife and three children were drowned in the flood between Birds Point and Wyatt, Mo.
Lynn was a farmer and was overtaken with his family by the rising water.

J. S. Cary, a farmer four miles from Wyatt, is missing. His skiff was found today and it is thought that he was drowned. Henry Baker, a farmer at Texas Bend, is reported drowned.

The long distance telephone and telegraph companies are not able to send messages from Cairo.

Fight Against Flood.

Carutherville, Mo., April 5.—Only a desperate fight can prevent the rising flood from breaking from the levee in this territory. Should a crevice occur, the entire St. Francis basin would be inundated with water and the loss of life and property would be great. The flood today exceeds the high water mark of 1903 by more than twenty inches and continues without abatement.

The situation hourly is growing more serious. An army of men is working day and night to protect all weak places. The Frisco railroad,

WILL ROLL STREETS FINISHED LAST FALL

Street Commissioner Wilkins Has Steam Roller Taken Out Today to Begin Spring Street Work.

Active work on the city streets was begun today when Street Commissioner Dan Wilkins had the steam roller brought from winter quarters and set at work rolling the streets which were re-surfaced last fall. Mr. Wilkins stated today that it was his intention to put the streets which had been repaved last year into first class shape at once. By running the roller over them at this time while the road bed is still moist, it will make the surface firmer and more settled insuring a permanent good road.

North and South Jackson streets and the Corn Exchange will be among the first streets rolled. Other streets to be treated are: North Bluff street, Wisconsin street, Milton avenue, South Main street, Pleasant, Dodge, South Franklin, North River and Palm streets. The work of cleaning the pavements is almost completed.

OBITUARY.

MATCHES TONIGHT WILL END SEASON

Two Matches Lost Night, And Two Tonight Will End Tour
Name for This Year.

Considerable interest was taken in the bowling last night at Hockett's alleys inasmuch as it was the next to the last match before the end of the season. The match between the Sox and the Glants was the best of the two former taking two out of three games. In the second game G. Baumann bowled the high score of the evening and one of the best of the season making the total of 223 points. Although the Sox were able to take the first two games by large margins they could not keep the pace and dropped below in the last. They ended with a total of nearly two hundred points more than their opponents however.

In the match between the Glants and the Dodgers the former turned the tables and took the entire three games themselves, although the margins were not very large. William Hobson made himself high man of the match by rolling 187 which was twelve higher than his nearest opponent.

Tonight if the river does not rise more than two feet more the last bowling of the tournament will be pulled off. At that time the Dodgers and Glants will meet at seven o'clock and at this the Naps will meet the Cubs. These are both expected to be interesting contests and the standing of the teams in the tournament can be figured after they have finished.

Last night's scores were as follows:

	Giants	Sox	Glants	Dodgers
Oshorn	104	146	158	121
Younman	116	136	132	123
Campbell	149	169	145	146
Craft	131	143	100	141
Hammond	130	151	167	127
Total	721	685	702-2108	691-2299

EL INSITO FORCE QUIT AT EDGERTON

Union Men Employed in Cigar Factory Walked Out Yesterday —
Trouble Over Minor
Matters.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, April 5.—Yesterday the force of cigarmakers at the El Insito manufactory walked out and a portion of the men have left town. It is understood that it is not a strike but the trouble is principally over minor matters. The force all are union men and a meeting will be held today when it is thought matters will be satisfactorily settled.

Edgerton News Notes.

Mrs. Temperton of Lima, is here on a visit to her father, Thomas North. George Sweeney has returned from a visit of a few days with relatives in Janesville.

Elton Stone, an old-time resident of this city, is confined to his home with illness. He has not been well all winter and his ailment will be reported as Bright's disease.

Dr. Larson has rented the John Linna residence in the north part of the city and will take possession next week.

Robert McIntosh is home for the Easter vacation from his school at Notre Dame.

The Missionary Society of the Congregational church met this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Ned Nelson. A home missionary program was given.

Miss Clara Jensen is home from the State University at Madison, for the Easter vacation.

Richard Boosed, for the past ten years residing his father on the section, has been promoted to section foreman at Stoughton and already has entered upon his duties.

J. M. Warner of Sanger, Cal., spent the day here yesterday with his daughter, Miss Dorothy Warner, at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. G. K. Macmillan. Louise Warner of Monroe, Wis., brother of the young lady, is also here for a week's stay.

The Ladies' Society of St. Joseph's church, will hold a cake and doughnut sale Saturday in the T. A. and B. hall, beginning at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Otto Dahlman, having recently bought out the shoe repair shop of Peter Lipawski, has moved his family here from Stoughton. He will continue business at the old stand.

A shipment of twenty-three carloads of sheep was made from the feeding station this morning to Kirkland, Ill. This being Good Friday, a number of the warehouses are closed today, while others are in operation with small forces. Scores of warehousemen and women are taking advantage and went to Janesville this morning to spend the day shopping and for pleasure.

Harlow Holm, a Stoughton young man was run in last night for drunkenness. Pleading guilty this morning in Justice North's court he was fined $10 and costs, total $13.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Schuchtsehneider, Jr., are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter, born last night.

ARRANGING DETAILS FOR THE SOTHERN-MARLOWE COMPANY.

Special Representative Here Discusses
His Experiences With Mr.

PICTURES OF FIGHT PROVE INTERESTING.

Realistic Portrayal of Kilbane-Attell Fight at Myers Last Evening Prove Excellent Attraction.

Johnny Kilbane was much succeeded over Abe Attell at the Myers opera house last evening in the wonderful moving pictures of the famous fight between the world's greatest lightweights. Pictures taken during training at the two camps were explained in a very interesting manner by Kid Morris, the featherweight champion of the northwest, who acts in lecturer. The pictures show clearly the remarkable foot work and cuttle movements of the world's champion, fighting for the title against a previously undefeated boxer, Abe Attell. The pictures show the fight round by round and as well as views in the camps and of the crowd. These pictures will be shown again this afternoon and tonight.

EL INSITO FORCE

QUIT AT EDGERTON

Union Men Employed in Cigar Factory Walked Out Yesterday —
Trouble Over Minor
Matters.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, April 5.—Yesterday the force of cigarmakers at the El Insito manufactory walked out and a portion of the men have left town. It is understood that it is not a strike but the trouble is principally over minor matters. The force all are union men and a meeting will be held today when it is thought matters will be satisfactorily settled.

Edgerton News Notes.

Mrs. Temperton of Lima, is here on a visit to her father, Thomas North. George Sweeney has returned from a visit of a few days with relatives in Janesville.

Elton Stone, an old-time resident of this city, is confined to his home with illness. He has not been well all winter and his ailment will be reported as Bright's disease.

Dr. Larson has rented the John Linna residence in the north part of the city and will take possession next week.

Robert McIntosh is home for the Easter vacation from his school at Notre Dame.

The Missionary Society of the Congregational church met this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Ned Nelson. A home missionary program was given.

Miss Clara Jensen is home from the State University at Madison, for the Easter vacation.

Richard Boosed, for the past ten years residing his father on the section, has been promoted to section foreman at Stoughton and already has entered upon his duties.

J. M. Warner of Sanger, Cal., spent the day here yesterday with his daughter, Miss Dorothy Warner, at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. G. K. Macmillan. Louise Warner of Monroe, Wis., brother of the young lady, is also here for a week's stay.

The Ladies' Society of St. Joseph's church, will hold a cake and doughnut sale Saturday in the T. A. and B. hall, beginning at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Otto Dahlman, having recently bought out the shoe repair shop of Peter Lipawski, has moved his family here from Stoughton. He will continue business at the old stand.

A shipment of twenty-three carloads of sheep was made from the feeding station this morning to Kirkland, Ill. This being Good Friday, a number of the warehouses are closed today, while others are in operation with small forces. Scores of warehousemen and women are taking advantage and went to Janesville this morning to spend the day shopping and for pleasure.

Harlow Holm, a Stoughton young man was run in last night for drunkenness. Pleading guilty this morning in Justice North's court he was fined $10 and costs, total $13.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Schuchtsehneider, Jr., are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter, born last night.

ARRANGING DETAILS FOR THE SOTHERN-MARLOWE COMPANY.

Special Representative Here Discusses
His Experiences With Mr.
Sothern.

Ramsay Morris, special representative of the W. H. Sothern-Julian Marlowe company which appears here on April 17th, in "Taming of the Shrew," reached Janesville this afternoon to arrange the final details of the appearance of the two stars at the Myers theatre. Mr. Morris is a most interesting talker and his long association with Mr. Sothern has given him a fund of topics for discussion.

Other News.

Mrs. Frank Doderick spent Thursday in Janesville.

Mrs. Charles Mooney and daughter Mabel were passengers to Chicago Thursday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

High atmospheric pressure prevails along the South Atlantic coast, attended by fair weather throughout the South and the central states.

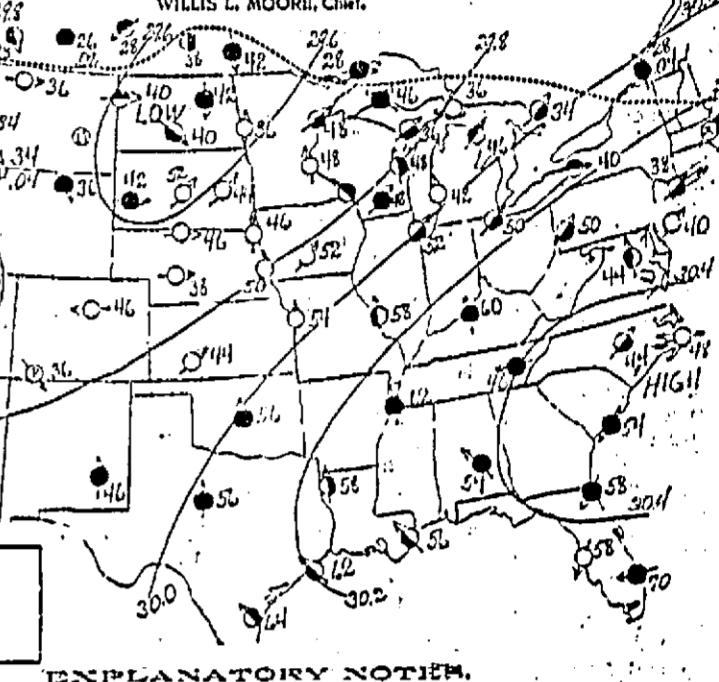

The area of low atmospheric pressure in the Northwest is moving slowly eastward toward the Lake Region. It has caused high temperatures on the northern Plains and in the upper Mississippi valley, and by rain on the north Pacific coast during the past 24 hours. Cloudiness has increased in the Lake Region, and showers or thunderstorms may form this afternoon or tonight in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

An area of high atmospheric pressure is approaching the north Pacific coast, but has not yet stopped the fall of rain on the north Pacific coast, while light rains or snows are reported at many places in the Rockies. For this vicinity the indications are that the weather will continue fair, or partly cloudy, tonight and Saturday. It will be colder Saturday.

Pioneer days in the practice of their profession in this region, Dr. Smith graduated from Rush Medical college in 1860. He began his practice in Footville, Wis., and soon after was appointed assistant surgeon in the 13th Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry and served throughout the Civil War. On returning he took up his residence

Our New Bicycles Have Arrived

AND ALMOST EVERYBODY RIDES

A WHEEL

There Are Over 1000 "Bikes" In Janesville.

Who would think it?

It is a fact. Many a man uses them in every day work. When you have a wheel you know that you do not have to eat a cold dinner, you do not have to wait for the uncertainties of our City Car Line.

Just Stop and Figure How Much You Will Save By Own- ing a Bicycle.

You can save on an average of 2 hours or more per day.

Last year there was sold over three hundred thousand bicycles manufactured by such firms as the Great Western Mfg. Co., America Wheel Co., Excelsior, Iver Johnson and eight or ten other companies who make a cheap line just to sell, not to ride, and some good standard lines with their own label on. We handle only those makes which we can recommend.

We have quality, where you can get the service, and bring them back when they go wrong.

THE MODERN INDIAN.

When Columbus landed on the western land he had so earnestly sought he called the inhabitants Indians, believing he had discovered a short route to the famous East Indies, the land of spices, jewels and gold. Later came the settlers—Spaniards, cruel and vindictive; Cavaliers, free and fun-loving; the phlegmatic Dutchman, stern Puritan, all with the one idea firmly fixed in their minds to gain land in the new world by purchase or conquest. Gradually the Indian was forced further back into the interior of the great unknown west, despoiled of lands and fair hunting grounds, waging a continual war upon advancing civilization, belittled by press and public sentiment until he became an abject ward of the nation, his once powerful name an object of derision.

Commenting upon the Indian in public life on exchange, handles the interesting topic of the fate of the present day native American in the following interesting manner:

"Down to even as late a date as twenty-five years ago newspaper references to the American Indian were of a character, generally speaking, calculated to reflect little credit upon him individually or collectively. A great change, however, has occurred since Crook and Terry and Custer were campaigning in the foothills of the Rockies; since the last stand was made by the Sioux, since scout and soldier found their occupations gone in the Lava beds and bad lands. A generation ago the American Indian was still a warrior, a marauder, a terror to the frontier settlements, and the newspapers had not ceased to tell of 'entrances' and 'atrocities' perpetrated by the red man. Often times there was little real foundation for those stories, but the public was willing to believe the worst that might be said of the aborigine. Times have changed. What we read about the American Indian today is quite different.

"For instance, the movement among the Indians themselves to organize a national association for the forwarding of their racial and individual interests held its first meeting in Columbus, O., last October, and it was composed in large part of educated men, lawyers, physicians, clergymen, journalists, educators, artists, business men, farmers and followers of various industrial callings. The convention this year of the Society of American Indians, it is expected, will make still better and more remarkable showing of progress.

"The Brotherhood of North American Indians, organized in Washington last December, is taking an aggressive stand for Indian rights. It asks that Indian delegates be permitted to represent the Indian population of the country on the floor of congress, in the ratio of one delegate for every 60,000 people, these delegates to have the same powers and compensations as delegates from territories. It asks more liberal appropriations for the Indian service. It demands an advisory board of Indians for each Indian school or agency, consisting of three or more members to be chosen by Indian tribes whose judgment shall have equal weight with the recommendations of the superintendent or agent in all matters affecting the tribes. It insists upon greater cooperation between the federal government and state governments in all matters touching the education of Indian youths.

"Behind these and other presentations, there is a practical touch which speaks eloquently of the advancement the American Indian is making in knowledge of the institutions of his country and of the forces that move those who from time to time have those institutions in their keeping. In the petition which the Brotherhood sends up to the President and Congress it is mentioned incidentally that already there are 60,000 Indian voters behind the movement. The Indians are pretty well scattered, but large numbers of them are concentrated in states. In the whole country they number about 310,000; of these about one third are in Oklahoma. There are 71,000 between the Rockies and the Sierra Nevadas. In New Mexico and Arizona there are 67,000. The number on the Pacific slope is about 34,000. The average Indian's idea of politics is as yet rudimentary, of course, but facts worth bearing in mind are that he is learning very fast, and that he seems already to be represented by men of his race who are as keen as their white brothers with regard to the recognition and pursuit of fundamental rights of citizenship. It is easily within the probabilities that the American Indian will soon not only find a place in the councils of the nation, but that the part he will play in public life will be a creditable one."

WATCHING JANEVILLE.

Cities throughout the state are watching Janesville and the initial steps of the commission form of government with interest. Holtz is particularly enthusiastic over the result of last Tuesday's election and believes that the Lino City would do well to endorse just such a form of government as Janesville will enjoy in the future. The voters decided to make the change and the voters also decided who were to be the officials who were to handle the new form of government. It is up to these men to make good and those who know the three chosen assert that the confidence has not been misplaced. How-ever the state as a whole will watch Janesville and the results closely.

That Water company does not seem to fear that it will be put up on a block and sold under the hammer day after tomorrow. By the way, in this connection it might be well to make a correction. In a communication published last Monday the cost of coal for the year to run the water works was estimated at three thousand dollars. It might be interesting to note that for the first three months of 1912 the coal has cost the Water company $1,500, which means $18,000 for the year—not $3,000.

Street Commissioner Dan Wilkins is hard at the spring work. The election and its radical changes have made no difference to Mr. Wilkins and he is still interested in giving Janesville the best streets possible. It is to be hoped his work for the past year will have its influence in his favor when the new commissioners elect their street commissioner.

It is safe to predict that "The Story of Edward Hines" will not be one of the six best sellers this year, and that the Tribune will not offer it as a circulation premium just yet.

The commissioners must choose a corporation counsel when they get down to business and it is safe to say that a lawyer with experience and knowledge will be chosen.

Creissen will be scarce in Janesville this year with the high tariff imposed on tent shows by the council in their reorganization of the ordinances.

The Pacific coast is ready for the ball season. Fifteen hundred tons of peanuts have been received in Tacoma.

Scottish potatoes are being sold in America and the ships that brought them over are to take back a load of coal to Newcastle.

The next big show for Janesville will be the Eagles' convention and this promises to be a storm-winder.

Milwaukee will always be a subject to talk about by discussing the days of the socialistic regime.

Parley is about to erect model tenements for its poor and thus become good as well as beautiful.

Clark evidently had a few friends in Wisconsin although Wilson had a few more.

Do you still fear to read the weather forecast lest a snow storm should be coming?

THREE ASTONISHING PRICES
IMPERIAL CARS

SIX BIG FEATURES: Four real doors, center control, silent enclosed power plant, long stroke motors, demountable rims, big tires, long wheelbase.

Everything that is best in modern automobile construction is incorporated in IMPERIAL Cars for 1912.

Almost every make of car boasts of some of these—Imperial Cars have them all.

Specifications are not everything, yet point for point every Imperial model is the head of its class when actual value is set beside price. Measure them up. We challenge comparison.

Style and graceful lines are not everything—speed and power are not everything—comfort and easy riding qualities alone do not make a car, yet you will find no more handsome design, no greater motor efficiency, no more luxurious upholstery.

Behind this sterling worth, as judged by figures, lie the actual accomplishments and the wonderful victories of the Imperial cars in endurance contests. These public tests have time and time again proved the Imperial the best for reliability and dependability, when compared with a score of other cars—some costing three times as much. Five first awards in the past five months have strengthened the record of the Imperial as the car for use—for wear—the car for economical investment.

MODEL 44, $1750.

This 40-horsepower car has the famous Imperial 4-cylinder unit power plant, 47x54, long stroke, valves enclosed; 120 inch wheelbase; tires 36x4; demountable rims; complete equipment, including Prest-O-Lite tank and lamps, silk mohair top, speedometer and windshield.

MODEL 34, $1400.

Imperial unit power plant, completely enclosed with 4 5-16x5 1/2 inch motor, valves enclosed. Wheelbase, 116 inches; tires, 34x4; demountable rims; complete equipment, including Prest-O-Lite gas tank, silk mohair top, speedometer and windshield.

MODEL 32, $1250.

Imperial unit power plant, completely enclosed with 4 5-16x5 1/2 inch motor; valves enclosed. Wheelbase, 116 inches; tires, 34x3 1/2; demountable rims; equipment includes generator, gas lamps, tools and horn.

THE IMPERIAL ROADSTER.

Model 33, $1250, built on the same chassis as our model 32, but complete equipment—Prest-O-Lite gas tank and lamps, silk mohair top, speedometer and windshield.

Don't think of buying a light delivery car until you have seen the "Dart," $650.

AGENTS.

The "DART" Light Delivery Car

$650
And you can't beat it.

Here is the ideal equipment for the merchant who needs a light runabout delivery. This machine will cover more ground, and deliver more goods than any three horses you ever saw and yet costs less than any horse to feed and keep.

This machine has entirely passed the experimental stage. They have been in constant use and have given the utmost satisfaction for the past four years, and are guaranteed to stand up and deliver the goods under the most adverse conditions.

They are durably and substantially made of high-grade material throughout; the workmanship and finish put on them is only equalled by their wonderful serviceability, dependability, and wonderful economy of fuel consumption, and there isn't a car of like nature on the market today that will compare with it from any standpoint. We'd be glad to send literature to you.

The Season's
Correct Corsets

There is only one correct corset for this season. That is the corset which follows the lines of the natural figure. The hips and abdomen are straight and snug. Every elegantly gowned woman must look supple, easy and generally graceful in her gown, not tightly corseted.

American
Lady
CORSETS

produce the modish effect to perfection. They excel in giving the much sought after lines.

A DAMAGING REPORT OF FOREIGN MISSIONS

Present Teaching of Missions Merely Morals—Not Christ.

Religion Has Been Cut Out and Education Substituted—$30,000,000 Multiplied a Thousand Times Would Accomplish Little Respecting the Conversion of the World—Nothing Short of Christ's Kingdom Can Do It.

New York, March 31.—The International Bible Students' Association received the Hippodrome in which to hear the Report of its Committee on Foreign Missions Investigation. The spacious auditorium was crowded. Prof. F. H. Robison, Secretary of the Committee, announced that the Report had been submitted to the Association and was in the printer's hands, to appear in pamphlet form, illustrated at the small price of five cents per copy, postpaid—free to the poor. The conclusion of the Report is in the nature of a Summary, which he read. Some of its salient points are:

Christianizing endeavors seem pretty generally to have ceased! Present missionary endeavors are almost exclusively along the line of secular education and medical aid.

There is less need of Academic and Collegiate education, such as the missionaries forward, than for Common Schooling.

The Orientals are often perplexed at the Missionary competition and opposition between Christian denominations.

Orientals are not heathens-savages, but their educated classes include splendid specimens of noble manhood, the moral and intellectual peers of Europeans and Americans.

The very suggestion of the world's conversion is ridiculous to the peoples of the East—including the Moslemaries. The interest on $30,000,000, or the principal multiplied a thousand times, would accomplish little except along the lines of secular education—notting us respects the world's conversion.

Pastor Russell's Hippodrome Address.

Text: Ask of Me and I will give Thee the heathen for an inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth!—Ps. viii, 2.

This text has been before the Pastor's mind continually during his world tour.

(D) Why call the people of India, China and Japan heathens, since they are not barbarians but civilized? We follow the Bible, which uses the word heathen; Gentiles and nations interchangingly, and applies these terms to all except the Jewish nation and the Christian Church. The reason for this is that only Israel spiritual and moral nature have thus far entered into covenant relationship with God.

The Pastor's second question was, To what extent is our Western civilization superior to that of the East?

He admitted that much could be said on both sides; that in some respects each had superiority over the other. Now, however, the people of the East are tacitly admitting the superiority of the West by gradually adopting our standards for schools, government, etc.

The Pastor's third question was:

To What Extent is Christian Civilization Blessing the World?

He considered it beyond question that a blessing had come to the world through the teachings of Jesus and the Apostles—to all who accept the Gospel message in truth and sincerity. These enjoy intelligently a peace of God such as others cannot know.

But aside from these footstep followers of Jesus, the Pastor queried whether the remainder of mankind under Christian civilization were happier than those under heathen religions, such as Buddhism. What he had seen of India, China and Japan led him to believe that the 700,000,000 of these lands are more contented, more happy than are the peoples of Europe and America, even though they possess little of the wealth of the world.

What is the Reason For This?

Pastor Russell's answer is, It is because the teachings of Jesus and the Apostles, in line with the teachings of Moses and the Prophets, the teaching of human equality, begets a love of liberty and a contention for it. They got enough from Christ's teachings to arouse and awaken them, but not enough to sanctify them. This was the intimation of the Great Teacher, "Think not that I am come to send peace upon the earth; I tell you, Nay, but a sword!"—Matthew x, 34.

"I Will Give Thee the Heathen."

At the beginning of this Age our Redeemer prayed for the Church, saying, "I pray not for the world (the heathen), but for those whom Thou hast given Me, that they may all be one." It has required this entire Age to find this elect company, and they will be made one by the glorious change of the First Resurrection.

Then will come the time when Jesus will pray for the world, as intimated in our text, and then the world will be given to Him. Since the sacrifice of Himself eighteen centuries ago, He has been gathering His Church, His Bride, to be His joint-heir in the Kingdom, which, according to Bible prophecy, will soon be established for the blessing of the world.—Acts iii, 19-21.

Life's irony.
It's sometimes only a letter or two that changes the only woman to the lonely one.

DR. JAMES MILLS ARDENT IN PRAISE OF ROSWELL, N. M.

Gives Glowing Description of Metropolis of Pecos Valley Where Many Janesville People Are Located.

Endowed with the advantages of a new country which has had plenty of eastern capital for its development, the city of Roswell, New Mexico, rivals the Garden of Eden, or the Promised Land, according to the glowing descriptions given.

The city has attracted a number of Janesville people who are now well imbued with the western spirit and who have engaged in profitable business pursuits of various characters. At present George S. Parker, R. M. Bostwick, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Blumhagen are on their way to this city where Mr. Parker's son, Russell Parker, is located. Other Janesville people have also visited there in the past few weeks.

Dr. James Mills, who has been spending some time in this garden spot, gives a vivid account of Roswell in a letter written to the Gazette. His letter is as follows:

"In this sunshine state there is every evidence of prosperity at Roswell. The people here have come from all parts of the United States. This is the metropolis of the Pecos Valley, a city of ten thousand.

The streets are all wide, well kept lawns and attractive homes make the city beautiful. There are eighty miles of cement sidewalks, efficient telephone service, a five hundred thousand dollar electric light and power plant, which extends its service many miles through the rural district, furnishing light and power to country people.

"Imagine all of Rock Praetoria furnished with electric light and power, save they now are with telephone, large gas plant, city water and fine sewerage system, two daily newspapers.

"A new court house has just been completed at a cost of one hundred and sixty thousand dollars. They have a Carnegie library, fine, commodious hospital, large armory and battery of light artillery.

"Roswell is located in the choicest section of the Southwest. The surrounding country is dotted with shade trees, fruit orchards, and stock farms. The water is supplied from great artesian wells, which gush from a depth of two hundred feet.

"The New Mexico Military Institute is located here, overlooking the city.

"The location is ideal, at an elevation of three thousand, seven hundred feet above sea level, in a country where the sun shines three hundred and twenty days every year, where the air is always light and pure, affording the most healthful environment of any military institute in the union. Col. J. W. Wilson is superintendent, and the school has a high standing. Students from here are admitted to all of the universities in the United States.

"Fraternal and social organizations are well represented. The Masons have a sixty thousand dollar temple; the Elks a twenty-five thousand dollar home; and all other orders, commodious quarters.

"There are four banks, doing a business of over three millions of dollars yearly. There are ten churches, and no saloons! The roads, summer and winter cannot be equalled anywhere; ideal roads for automobiling, of which there are over two hundred and fifty in the city.

"There are over fifty thousand acres of land in the vicinity of the city under irrigation; price of land ranging from one hundred to three hundred dollars per acre; bearing orchards from five hundred to two thousand dollars per acre. There is no better farming land around Janesville than can be found around this city.

"The dry is certainly up-to-date, and there is wonderful enterprise shown here.

"Lately a special train from Ohio and Pennsylvania, consisting of thirty-four eastern capitalists, who represent twenty-five million dollars, arrived here, being the guests of the Berrendo Irrigation Farms company. Their purpose is to look over conditions and developments of the valley. Ten automobiles were required to convey the party around the city and country. A visit from such men means something to this locality.

"On the Sunday before election there was a no-fence demonstration street parade composed of about three thousand men, women and children, over one hundred Mexicans, and over one hundred women pushing babies in ordinary baby carts; the last man in the procession drawing a dead cat.

"The climate is almost perfect; the air, pure and dry. The winters are very much like October in Wisconsin, due to the high altitude. The nights and mornings are cool and bracing; the days are warm and bright. The climate has become famous all over the world for its healthfulness. It means vigor and happiness to those seeking a change. The entire region is noted as a health resort.

"Dr. R. H. Stetson, formerly of Lima Center, is one of the prominent citizens. The Doctor came here with his family four years ago. He has just erected a handsome brick residence. He and his daughter own about six hundred acres of land. He and his wife are satisfied and well pleased with this country.

"There are many Wisconsin families living in this city and vicinity who have made profitable investments; some Janesville people have made good selections of farms that in a few years will show fine apple orchards, and large crops of alfalfa in a thickly settled district. The Berrendo Irrigation Farms company of Roswell have subdivided a tract of land four by six miles in area, adjoining the city, into small farms of from ten to forty acres. These small farms are all irrigated and supplied with electric light and power. W. G. Hamilton is president of the company. There are many other large land companies here; among them, some from California.

"Take all other big undertakings, in. Alex McPherson is superintendent of the Berrendo Farms company, and looks after the farms of non-residents.

"The grandeur and beauty of the scenery at this time of year is beyond description, for, at a distance, one can see the snow-covered mountains, and in the valley the apple trees in blossom, and the fields covered with a carpet of alfalfa, and all nature coming into new life. One feels that spring is really here. This is certainly the Sunshine State."

INSTRUCTIONS OF A PIPER

Ingenious Method of Teaching His Pupil Adopted by the Highland Musician.

A Highland piper who had a pupil to teach originated a method by which he succeeded in reducing the difficulties of the task to a minimum, and at the same time fixed his lesson in the pupil's mind.

"Here, Donald," said he, "take yer pipes, lad, an' gle us a blast."

"So! Verra well blown, indeed, but what's a sound, Donald, w/out making you may blow forever w/out making a tune o't? If I dinna tell ye how the queer things on the paper maun help ye."

"Ye see that big fellow wi' a round open face?" pointing to a semi-circle between two lines of a bar? He moves slowly from that line to this, while ye beat an' wi' yer fist an' gle a long blast.

"If ye put a leg to him, ye mak twa o' him, an' he'll move twae as fast."

"If, now, ye black his face, he'll run four times faster than the fellow wi' the white face; and if, after blacking his face, ye bend his knee to the back, he'll hop eight times faster than the white-faced chap I showed ye first."

"Now," concluded the piper, sententiously, "whenver ye blow your pipes, Donald, remember this: that the lighter their fellow's legs are tied, the faster they'll run, and the quicker they're sure to dance."

ARE YOU ON OPPOSITE SIDE?

Frank Crane Thinks the "Standing Minority Report" Necessary to Keep Mankind Honest.

Doubtless each of us knows someone in his circle of acquaintances who is intellectually contrary. Such a one delights to take on every occasion the opposite side.

If he is in a religious community he will take his stand firmly for atheism; if he is among scoffers he will argue just as valiantly for the church. He is a standing minority report. He is a crooked stick that will not lie in the woodpile, like Goethe's devil he is the spirit who constantly denies.

This class of persons is a steady, normal crop in the field of humanity. We would not get along without them. They keep the kith of things stirred, which otherwise would settle and spoil. These are they that keep the course of social life pure as a running stream and prevent it from becoming like a green, stagnant pool.

They supply glories for political campaigns. They are the party out of power. They are the watchdogs of progress. Without them religion would harden into a cruel tyranny of superstition, falsehoods would be crystallized in power and ancient fraud live forever. They harass mankind into being honest.—Frank Crane.

Horse Pedometers.
The whorls of hair on the coats of horses and other animals are natural pedometers, inasmuch as they register the locomotive activity of the animals on whose bodies they are found.

The best examples and the greatest number of these hairy whorls and crests are found on the domestic horse. A notable instance is the graceful feathering that extends along the hollow of the flank, dividing the trunk of the animal from the hindquarters. There are also crests and whorls on the horse's chest and other parts of its body.

A study of the action of the underlying muscles explains the origin of these peculiarities in the lay of the hair and furnishes the justification for calling them pedometers, although the analogy is, of course, merely superficial.

Mixed Patriotism.

Up in the Nineteenth assembly district they are telling this story of a rather political hit. In the rounds of local social activities he attended an afternoon entertainment given by the Outdoor Playground association. Among the vocal selections rendered by the children was "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." At the conclusion of that hymn the political hit was called upon for a few remarks. He addressed the audience with emotion.

"Children," he said, "it does my heart good to hear you. Rarely ever have I heard The Star-Spangled Banner so beautifully sung."—New York Times.

Fine Horses of Mixed Blood.
Since the beginning of the seventeenth century Jerez de la Frontera has been the most noted horse-breeding center of Andalusia, for many hundreds of years famous for its fine horses. Jerez de la Frontera was one of the first and best Moorish strongholds in Spain, and the best horses there were all bred from famous Arab stallions, so that what is known as an Andalusian, or Spanish, horse has always a good deal of Arab blood; it has, however, been crossed with so many other breeds, especially Flemish, that today the Spanish horse is not registered in the books of record of pure-blood animals.

SPECIAL SERVICES FOR GOOD FRIDAY

Every Church in City Observes Day Commemorating Christ's Passion and Death.

Observance of the holiest day in the year was marked by special services in the city churches after the usual custom. The Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches had more elaborate services while the Lutheran and body possessed of the powers of the other Protestant congregations were given the opportunity of prayer and preaching services.

The special Good Friday services were held in St. Mary's and St. Patrick's churches this morning. In Trinity church and Christ Episcopal the morning prayer and Matins was observed at ten o'clock and the Three Hours' service from twelve to three o'clock and the evening and prayers at seven-thirty completed the day's ceremonies.

Special devotional services were held at tenthirty this morning in St. Paul's and St. John's Lutheran churches and a Norwegian communion service was observed at eight o'clock at the Norwegian Lutheran church.

The four Evangelical churches closed their observance of Holy Week today with the services held at the Cargill M. E. church. The Rev. David Beaton spoke at the afternoon meeting at four o'clock on the subject of "The Adherence to Principle," and the Rev. J. W. Laughlin will give the address this evening at seven-thirty on the topic "His Authority and Power."

Good Friday is observed throughout the Christian world to commemorate Christ's passion and death. It is always the Friday before Easter which commemorates his resurrection and which comes on the first Sunday after the first full moon after March 21, a date which has been decided on by the Christian church.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

Turning Money at Home

A WOMAN who was very fond of children and who desired to earn some money at home decided to turn this liking of hers for little folks into a source of revenue. She would be doing something she enjoyed, she would be helping other women, and she would be adding to her income.

She worked her plan out in several directions. For one thing, on Saturday mornings, she went to homes where there were small children, and where the mothers had much to do, and gathering the little folks under her charge, she took them off for a half day. The mothers were thus left to do their household tasks without disturbance, yet they knew their little ones were safe and being well taken care of. When the weather permitted, the children and their guardian went for a walk, or out into the woods or park. But when it was stormy or too cold, she kept a room in her own house in which, under her supervision, they played. At twelve o'clock she took them all home. She made a small charge for each child committed to her care; but in the aggregate, it netted her a good sum.

Then, she let it be known that if mothers wanted to go shopping or calling or to do anything of the kind, she would take care of the children for an afternoon, or whatever time, the mother might wish someone to look after them.

Many a mother was only too glad to avail herself of this privilege, for some mothers have no opportunity to get away from home for any purpose whatever, unless they take the children with them. And this is often very taxing on the strength and nerves of both the mothers and the children.

What this woman did may be suggestive to others who may wish to earn some money at home. They may not just follow her plan. There may be other needs in their locality. A class in natural history for little folks might be a way to develop the idea. Two or three hours spent outdoors in the summer in studying nature would be very profitable for the children very enjoyable and very healthful. But any woman who is a lover of children will think of many things that can be done for the little folks. And mothers, if they know the children are in safe and competent hands, will be only too glad to be relieved of the care of them when extra household work presses, when shopping must be done, or when some little social affair is on the carpet.

"So it behoves the woman who has a warm spot in her heart for children and who wishes to earn some money, to put on her thinking cap and see if here is not a field in which she can work.

Barbara Boyd.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THERE, there little girl, don't cry. They have broken your doll, I know.

And your tea set blue,

And your playhouse, too,

Are things of the long ago,

But childhood troubles will soon pass by,

There, there, little girl, don't cry."

—James Whitcomb Riley.

A little girl passed us on the street the other day, crying pitifully. Her small mouth was drawn down into lines of deepest woe, and she looked, to the familiar expression quite as if she had lost her last friend.

Said my companion, "And to think that probably there's nothing any more serious the matter than she's lost a penny, or torn her dress! Funny, isn't it, what fads we used to make over our foolish little troubles? If we could have known what we'd have to face when we grow up!"

Is it not funny?

Is it strange that the ant is greatly troubled, because someone has kicked a stone onto his ant hill?

Is it queer that he doesn't realize that if he were a man, that stone wouldn't look like anything to him?

It seems to me that this cheery "for childhood troubles will soon pass by" attitude, such as my companion assumed, is all too common among us grown-ups.

The truth is that a child's little trouble, which he will forget in an hour, is just as serious to him during that hour, as a grief which overshadows a life time is during its greater duration to a grown-up, be something very few grownups seem to be able to realize.

And yet ask your own experience if it be not so. How else can you explain that at forty, fifty or sixty you still remember your disappointment—that time you were sick and couldn't go to the circus—an keenly as your grown-up grief at missing some truly splendid and life-changing opportunity. How else do you account for the fact that a woman of eighty-told me that she could never yet eat a certain kind of spice cake, without remembering the terrible day when she was whipped, and sent to bed for piffling one. Don't these things look as if the griefs must have been pretty intense, while they lasted, to leave such an impression?

The truth is that a child has not yet acquired any sense of perspective. He has no breadth of view. All the objects that he looks at are very close to his eyes. Now hold a tiny object—a thimble or a penny—up close to your eye and see how large it looks, and how much of the outlook it can obscure. Well, that's just the way the child sees his griefs.

And again, we must remember that a child's experience of disappointment is much smaller than ours. Experience has made us wary of hoping too much, but the child regards it as a matter of course that what he wants, that shall he have at once, and hence his disappointment, even in little things, is proportionately keener. As Mrs. Brownlow puts it somewhere, the child cries for the moon, and boasts its nose when he doesn't receive it, but the old man sighs his grief with avidity and thanks Heaven if nobody beats him.

Don't belittle, laugh at, or pass too lightly over the baby's troubles. If you are ever inclined to do so, call to your mind how trivial and transient your own great grief undoubtedly looks to an intelligence a thousand times further beyond yours, than your own is beyond the child's.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

The Return of the Pantry In House

Plans—Good Cookery.

By Alice E. Whittaker.

Everything is susceptible to the whim of fashion whether it be the width of skirts, the papering of a room or even the way a dessert is garnished. Just as many women were getting accustomed to keeping house without a pantry, and finding it quite possible and even persuading themselves that it is pleasant and convenient to do so, the builders are beginning to put a full sized pantry into their new houses.

It must be confessed that a pantry with an outside window, giving good light and ventilation is desirable for it is sanitary and allows buying in larger amounts than from hand to mouth.

In small city houses or in apartments it is better to do without the close dark place called a pantry but if there is room for a well lighted store room for food it is a great convenience to old housekeepers at least.

But even if the pantry returns its contents will be of a different order from the old time array of flour barrels, molasses and vinegar jugs, bags of rye and cornmeal with, perhaps a ham and a hutch of dried beef.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

CHEAP DIETARIES FOR STUDENTS.

A college student asks for the cheapest dietary that will give him the necessary physical and mental endurance and good health. Much depends upon taste and temperament, but a pound of whole corn meal made into a firm mush, in a double boiler or fireless cooker, with a quart of milk and an ounce of brown or maple sugar, eaten slowly, twice a day, would probably meet the requirements of the average case better than any other ration. One who has been accustomed to the unnatural mixtures, with spiced and varied dishes, may require time to adapt to such a simple ration, but it will ultimately be found satisfying and entirely satisfactory. Alternate rations to consider are stale bread and milk, crackers and buttermilk, a pound of raisins and four ounces of walnuts, or blanched, unroasted peanuts. The last named is especially recommended for the student who wishes to do his best intellectual work while maintaining good physical condition, though perhaps losing some weight. The peanut is especially rich in phosphoric acid and yields "brain food" in the most useable form. These rations could be alternated, but the best results can be obtained by adopting one of them continually. Athletes will undergo rigid diet for the best physical results and why should not the student? If many students will make a test of these dietaries, the result may be summarized and published for the benefit of such as the Inquirer. Change one meal at a time, slowly, in adopting any new dietary.

Maple Sugar Dainties.

This is the time when we are ready to enjoy the fresh product of the maple tree. There are many delicious desserts, candies and other dishes which may be prepared with maple syrup and sugar.

Delicious rolls are made of ordinary baking powder biscuit mixture, rolled and spread with butter, grated maple sugar and chopped nuts, then rolled and cut in pinwheel biscuit. The sugar makes a delicious sauce for them. They may be served hot with cream as a dessert, if so desired.

Sandwiches spread with maple sugar and chopped nuts are greatly liked as a variety.

Maple Parfait.—This is a delicious frozen dish. Use a cup of maple syrup and the yolks of four eggs, cooked until smooth; a pinch of salt and a pint of good rich cream, freeze. Serve in sherbet cups with maple syrup sauce and chopped nuts if one likes, yet the plain sherbet is plenty rich enough.

Popcorn Pudding and Maple Syrup.—Scald three cups of milk and pour it over two cups of popped corn, which has been pounded. Let stand an hour, then add three eggs slightly beaten, one-half cup of maple syrup, one tablespoon of butter and three-fourths of a teaspoon of salt.

Stir together until well mixed and bake in a slow oven thirty-five minutes, or until firm. Serve hot with maple syrup.

Bonnie Clabber.—Scald and not away a quart of new milk in a pretty serving dish until it thickens. Before serving set on ice to chill, and use care to keep it from breaking when taken to the table. Serve with grated maple sugar. This is a delicious summer dessert.

Vain Effort.

"As we journey through life we gradually learn a few things."

"For instance?"

"The man who hopes to assert his individuality by wearing loud ties and noisy socks is simply wasting time."

CURIOS BITS OF HISTORY

SOME LAKE CITIES IN 1840.

By A. W. MACY.

In the summer of 1840 William Cullen Bryant, one of America's great poets and for many years editor of the New York Evening Post, made a tour of the Great Lakes. His observations concerning some of the cities he visited are more interesting now, perhaps, than they were at the time they were published: Of Buffalo: "Buffalo continues to extend on every side, but the late additions to the city do not much improve its beauty." Of Cleveland: "Cleveland stands in a beautiful country without a hill, a thriving village yet to grow into a proud city of the Lake country. Of Detroit: "You must look your staterooms in the night," said one of the persons employed about the vessel, "for Detroit is full of thieves." We followed the advice, slept soundly, and saw nothing of the thieves, nor of Detroit, either." Of Milwaukee: "Farther on we came to Milwaukee, which is rapidly becoming one of the great cities of the west." Of Chicago: "Any one who had seen Chicago as I had done five years ago, when it contained less than 6,000 people, would find some difficulty in recognizing it now when its population is more than 15,000. It has long rows of warehouses and shops, its bustling streets, its huge steamers, and crowds of lake craft, lying at the wharves; its villas embowered with trees. The slovenly and raw appearance of a new settlement begins in many parts to disappear."

Art in the Kitchen.

After much meditation and experience I have decided that it takes no much sense and refinement and talent to cook a dinner, wash and wipe a dish, make a bed and dust a room as goes to the writing of a novel or sitting in high society.—Rere Terry Cookin.

Introducing Herself.

A little girl, the daughter of a well-known minister, was heard to finish her evening prayer one night this way: "Now perhaps, God, you don't know who is talking to you. I'm Mr. Blank's little girl, and he is the pastor of the First church, and the best preacher in the whole blamed country."

Real Men.

There are few real pleasures in this life. One of the greatest is to meet a really sensible man, after days and days of meeting weak people with weak opinions and a disposition to be unsafe.—Atchison Globe.

Little Waldo Suffers.

"It's disgusting," said Mrs. Waldo Bonchill of Boston; "the makers of children's blocks never think of putting Greek letters on them; and there is my poor little Emerson simply dying of envy for the want of a good fairy tale in words of moderately extensive syllabification."

Peculiar Banquet Menu.

At a banquet in Paris the other day the menu included an omelette of ostrich egg, pythons, African gazelles and porcupines. Several women were induced to try python ragoût, which they pronounced delicious.

The Power behind the dough

The power behind the dough must be quick and positive in action—it must produce certain, satisfactory results and yet be pure and wholesome. KC Baking Powder is the scientific combination of all these desirable qualities. Hundreds of thousands of good housewives know that KC has made bake-day a pleasure, and we ask you for your own sake to try KC Baking Powder at least once. Guaranteed pure under all pure food laws. Your grocer will return your money if you are not pleased. It will solve your bake-day problems.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

THE SUN.

BY HOWARD L. RANN.

The sun is a central heating plant which never causes anybody to crawl out of the frost-bitten brass bed and hurl ripe red epithets at the janitor. It is quite a good deal larger than the earth, but is not so tattered. Science doesn't know much about the sun except that it has gotten into the habit of rising in the east, as is its rule, and sinks into a large hole just back of the hon house, pulling in after it.

In after it. Scientists have also discovered that if a man approaches too close to the sun and attempts to find out how much heat it contains, he is liable to have his sideburns shriveled up to a titillating peak; it takes the sun 26 days to turn over, and if it should get tangled up in the bedclothes for a few minutes this earth now so rich in the perfume of field and forest and primary election scandals, would become one vast blue telele and it wouldn't be necessary to embalm anybody at heavy expense. Those who have edged up close to the sun with a 4,000-candle power telescope tell us that it has a very low quality of complexion, being covered with pink pimples and warm bubbles which advanced and retreat like a willowy farm hand in a plumb quadrille. The sun is cooling off at a rapid rate, and it is estimated that in thirty million years those who do not become impatient and leave can visit it in perfect comfort and looseleaf suits of eighty-ply acetate. The only sign of animal life on the sun consists of smog, which never comes out of the kennel except to predict a cold wave that would freeze the eye-winkers off a polar bear. In the summer time the sun becomes very familiar and takes great liberties with man, causing him to distribute boiled shirts, high collars and puffed-up perspiration over the family hearth. Nobody ever ordered the sun around with any success except Joshua, and his recipe has been lost.

The Same Is True Today.
Diseases upon the quiet. An honest man could never find, although still hoping for the best. Great was the scarcity of that kind.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville, Gazette, April 5, 1872.—A strike of the coal miners of the Mahoning Valley, Ohio, has been inaugurated and three thousand men are now lying idle.

Detroit, April 5.—Prof. Watson, of Ann Arbor, reports the discovery, last night in the constellation of Virgo, a new planet. It shines like star of the eleventh magnitude. Its position is right ascension, two hundred degrees and fifty five minutes declination, and is slowly moving west in right ascension and north in ascension.

Canvass backs have arrived at Newville. The fee in Lake Koskoumou is still firm.

The oratorio receipts for the three nights run up to six hundred dollars. A hole in the Milwaukee street bridge took in a horses leg yesterday, but let it go in time to save the city an expense of about one hundred and fifty dollars. Some patch work is needed.

John P. Williams took his position as conductor and engineer of the Rose house, on Wednesday, and he dispensing lunch, with his lordly grace, to crowded houses. John P. is just as good a landlord as he is a king in the oratorio, and we make no mistake in judgment. In prophesying that his hotel will be the favorite resort of travelers.

Judge Conger has just decided the case of Leodis M. Austin against Thomas H. Austin, tried at the last term of our circuit court, and involving the sum of six thousand dollars. The suit was for the foreclosure of a mortgage and the defense was payment. Judge Conger has decided that the mortgage is not paid and ordered the judgment for the plaintiff. Legal Roger was attorney for the plaintiff, and Meeks, Bennett and Cassidy for the defendant.

Esther No. 3 performed last night brought out another multitude to fill the seats of the Myers Opera House. This oratorio has had a remarkably successful run and the fact that each presentation has filled the hall to its capacity is all the argument we need to advance in favor of its popularity with the public.

Finds Cure for Epilepsy After Years of Suffering

My daughter was afflicted with epileptic fits for three years, the attacks coming every few weeks. We employed several doctors but they did her no good. About a year ago we heard of Dr. Miles' Narvay, and it certainly has proved a blessing to our little girl. She is now apparently cured and is enjoying the best of health. It is over a year since she has had a fit. We cannot speak too highly.

DR. MILES NARVAY,
MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN.

Thousands of children in the United States who are suffering from attacks of epilepsy are a burden and sorrow to their parents, who would give anything to restore health to the sufferers.

Dr. Miles' Narvay
is one of the best remedies known for this affliction. It has proven beneficial in thousands of cases and those who have used it have the greatest faith in it. It is not a "cure-all," but a reliable remedy for nervous diseases. You need not hesitate to give it a trial.

Sold by all Druggists. If the best bottle fails to benefit your money is returned.

HAIR HEALTH.

If You Have Scalp or Hair Trouble, Accept This Offer.

When we promise your money back for the mere asking if Dr. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic does not do as we claim it will, you certainly have no reason for even hesitating to try it. We do not ask you to oblige yourself in any way.

We could not afford to so strongly endorse Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it as we do, if it did not do all we claim. Should our enthusiasm carry us away, and Rexall "93" Hair Tonic not give entire satisfaction to the users, they would lose faith in us and our statements, and in consequence our business prestige would suffer.

Therefore, when we assure you that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will promptly eradicate dandruff, stimulate hair growth and prevent premature baldness, you may rest assured we know what we are talking about.

We honestly believe that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will do more than any other human agency toward restoring hair growth and health. It is not greasy and will not gum the scalp or hair or cause permanent stain. It is as pleasant to use as pure cold water. It comes in two sizes, price 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain it only at our store, The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co., 14 West Milwaukee St., Janesville, Wis.

THE WAY OF A MAN

By EMERSON HOUGH

Copyright, 1912, by the Outing Publishing Company

We concluded our conference in regard to my business matters. I learned that the coat lands had been redeemed from foreclosure. Colonel Meriwether having advanced the necessary funds; and as this now left our debt running to him, I instructed Dr. Bond to take steps to cancel it immediately, and to have the property partitioned as Colonel Meriwether should determine.

"And now, Jack," said my wire-haired old friend, "there's something you ought to see. I saved it for you over there the morning you threw it into the fireplace."

He spread out on the top of the desk a folded bit of hide. Familiar enough it was to me.

"You saved but half," I said. "The other half is gone."

He pushed a flake of snuff far up his long nose. "Yes," said he quietly, "I sent it to her some three months ago."

"What did she say?"

"Nothing, you fool. What did you expect?"

"Now, my son," he concluded seriously, "if you ever dreamed of marrying any other woman dash me if I wouldn't come into court and make this indenture witness for you both; for her as well as you! Go on away now, and don't bother me any more."

Our forces passed up the valley of Virginia and rolled through the old Rockfish gap. We overspread all the Piedmont valley and passed down to the old town of Charlottesville. It was nearly deserted now. The gay southern boys who in the past roamed there with their negro servants and sat at night good Thomas Jefferson's intent of simplicity in the narrow little chambers of the old University of Virginia now were gone with their horses and their servants. Today you may see their names in bronze on the tablets at the university doors.

I had quizzed my men about the quiet old place when I heard the voice of my sentry challenge and caught an answering word of indignation in a woman's voice.

A low, single-seated cart was halted near the curb, and one of its occupants was apparently much angered. I saw her clutch the long brown rifle barrel which extended out at the rear over the top of the seat. "You git out'n the road, man," repeated she, "or I'll take shot at you for luck. Wadome come this far, and I reckon we'll go the rest the way."

That could be no one but old Mandy McGovern. For the sake of amusement I should have left her to make her own argument with the guard had I not in the same glance caught sight of her companion, a trim figure in close fitting corsetry of golden brown, a wide hat of russet straw shading her face. It was Ellen!

Her face went very red as I hastened to the side of the cart and put down Mandy's arm. She stammered, unable to speak more correctly than I myself. Mandy could not forget her anger and flushed that she wanted to see the "boss."

"I am the colonel in command right here, Aunt Mandy," I said. "Won't I do?"

"You a kuno?" she retorted. "Looks to me like kuno is mighty easy made if you'll do. No; we're after Glarri Meriwether, who's comin' here to be the real boss of all you folks. Say, man, you taken away my man and my boy. Where they at?"

"With my here," I was glad to answer, "safe and somewhere not far away. The boy is wounded, but his arm is nearly well."

"Ain't got nut fightin' fit?"

"No; both he and Auberry seem to be just beginnin'."

"Humph! Rockin' they're happy, though. If a man's gittin' throes squares a day and plenty of fightin', don't see what more he kin ate."

"Corporal," I called to my sentry, who was now pacing back and forth before the door, hiding his mouth behind his hand, "put this woman under arrest and hold her until I return. She's looking for Private Auberry and Meriwether, G company, First Virginia volunteers. Keep her in my office when they're sent for. Bring me my bag from the table."

It was really a pretty tight, that between Mandy and the corporal. The latter was obliged to call out the guard for aid. "Stik' em, Pete!" cried Mandy when she found her arms pinioned, and at once there darted out from under the cart a hairy little demon of a dog, mutt, mongrelled, pink eared, which began silent barks with the corporal's legs.

I looked again at that dog. I was ready to take it in my arms and cry out that it was my friend. It was the little Indian dog that Ellen and I had tamed. Why, then, had she kept it? Why had she brought it home with her? I doubt which way the contest would have gone had not Mandy seen me climb into her vacated seat and take up the reins. Pete then suddenly took up his place under the cart.

We turned and drove back up the shady street, Ellen and I. I saw her fingers twisting together in her lap, but as yet she had not spoken. The flush on her cheek was deeper now. She beat her hands together softly, confused, half frightened, but she did not beg me to leave her.

"And your father?" I asked her, my hand falling on hers.

"He knows as much as I. Lately he has heard from your friend, Dr. Bond. We have both learned a great many things. We are sorry, I am sorry. I have always been sorry."

"But what moro?" I asked. "Ellen?"

She put out her hands in a sort of terror. "Don't, please! I have put all this away for so long that now—I can't begin again. I can't! I can't! I am afraid. Do not ask me. Do not No, no!"

She started from the seat as though she would have fled in a swift panic. But now I caught her.

"Stop!" I exclaimed, rage in all my heart. "I've been fool-long enough, and now I will have no more of foolishness. I will try no more to figure inepties. I'll not try to understand a woman. But, gentleman or not, I swear that if we were alone again, we two out there, you should do as I said, as I desired. And I say now you must, you shall!"

"That is not the question," I answered slowly. "It is, Can you forgive me?" Her hand fell on my arm imploringly.

"I have no doubt that I was much to blame for that poor girl's act," I continued. "The question only is, Has my punishment been enough or can it be enough? Do you forgive me? We all make mistakes. Am I good enough for you, Ellen? Answer me."

But she would not yet answer. So I went on.

"I killed Gordon Orme myself in fair fight, but he wrote off of his own free will. He himself told me it would be proof. Is it proof?"

She put the paper gently to one side of her on the long seat. "I do not need it," she said. "If it came to question of proof we have learned much of these matters, my father and I, since we last met you. But I have never needed it; not even that night we said goodbye. Ah, how I wanted you back after you had gone!"

"And your father?" I asked her, my hand falling on hers.

"He knows as much as I. Lately he has heard from your friend, Dr. Bond. We have both learned a great many things. We are sorry, I am sorry. I have always been sorry."

"But what moro?" I asked. "Ellen?"

She put out her hands in a sort of terror. "Don't, please! I have put all this away for so long that now—I can't begin again. I can't! I can't! I am afraid. Do not ask me. Do not No, no!"

THE THEATERS

The Manhattan Stock Company which opens an engagement at the Myers Theatre Monday evening is reported to be one of the strongest and cleverest companies playing this season. Miss Helen Forrest Russell, is a big Wisconsin favorite and she hopes to make a good impression on the theatre going public of Janesville on this her initial visit here. Miss Anna Pearl Cogswell, is an exceptionally clever heavy woman. The character parts are portrayed by Miss Georgina King who is one of the greatest laugh makers in the comedienne line. Miss Dorothy Seard, is an actress with a future.

The leading man is Mr. Rudolph

Yet, it comes as a shock to discover that Shakespeare made use of "fall for it," "beat it," "are you wise," "back to the minkes," "handed a lemon," "the push," "some jay," "tipe," and "ouch."

It is, too, rather saddening to be informed that Shakespeare lifted that lonely Bowery idiom, "come off," from Chaucer.

The fact is,—we all use slang—and most of us without knowing it. Frank Vretee tells of a fond country mother who was very solicitous that the well-bred manners of her little daughter, who had been sent to the city for her education, should not come into contamination, with gray' who appeared in this city some time ago in "The House Next Door." Mr. Alex Butler, comedian and dancer, is there with hot feet. The beauties are capably handled by Mr. Harry Phipps, Mr. Edward Trout, recently with the "Honey Moon Trail." Mr. Lewis Eckels, Mr. Geo. Gordon and Bob Stoeckel help complete an unusually strong cast.

MR. LEW ECKELS OF MANHATTAN STOCK COMPANY.

Special attention, however, is drawn to the Great DeVille's, who heads the vaudeville. He was considered good enough by a Continental booking agency to be featured on a European tour. Mr. DeVille does three distinct aerobatic acts.

NO LICENSE WON OUT AT BROOKLYN ELECTION.
Majority of 19 for "Dry" Was Result of Vote—Village and Township Officers.

SLANG IN SHAKESPEARE.
E. H. Sothern, who with Julia Marlowe appears in Shakespearean repertoire at Myers Theatre, Monday eve., April 17 In The Taming of the Shrew lately made the astonishing statement that a large number of the so-called American idioms or slang phrases, are to be found in the plays of the Bard of Avon.

Whether Mr. Sothern makes this statement an excuse for the much maligned Americans—or as an indication of our intimate knowledge of the works of Shakespeare, he does not disclose. This revelation on Mr. Sothern's part will come, however, much in the nature of a surprise to our speech-parlor who is fond of saying: "The language of Shakespeare is good enough for me!"

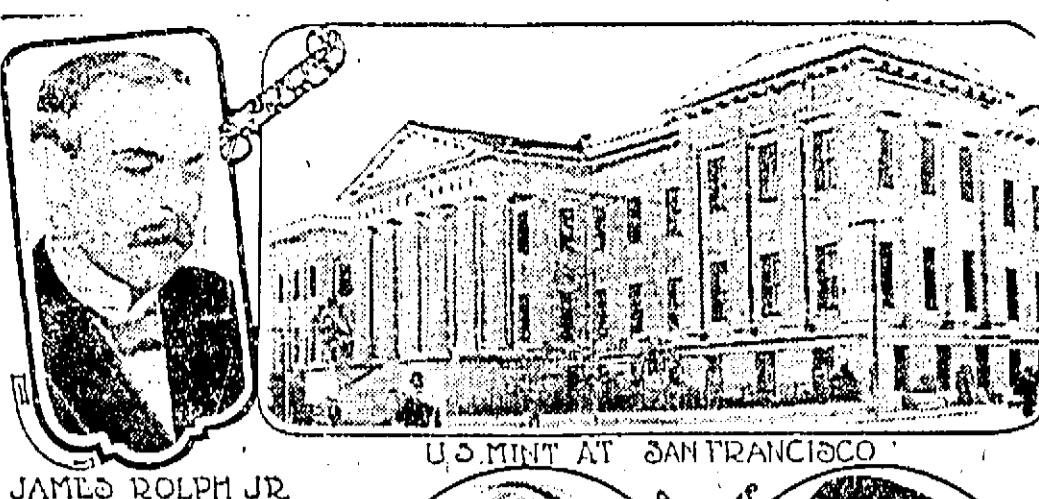

The fact that a considerable number of people who think they are being witty,—or up-to-date words or slang are merely repeating phrases used by Shakespearean characters. Not one of these pundits would think of using the word "knock," in the sense of fault-finding, and yet Shakespeare puts it in the mouth of Grumio in "The Taming of the Shrew." Nor would they say "O, believe me," or "Oh, very well,"—both phrases to be found in the same play.

Apropos, a London literary publication lately complained that the "high summer tide of American travel over seas was serving to corrupt the English speech. One of the words which the London editor complains of was bally, in the sense of excellent. A Harvard professor, who happened to be in London, wrote to the editor and called his attention to the words of Shakespeare: "O, sweet bally Bottom," a bally knight," and "bally st. John." All that the editor had to say in reply was that he "objected to this verbal rechristenation."

As the boys say, "Bally for him!" Despite the great number of pithy phrases, and terse expressions employed by Shakespeare, he used only 15,000 different words. Yet, the number of words now to be found in our unabridged dictionaries reaches a grand total of nearly 400,000. While Shakespeare got along very well on a dietary 15,000, he puts into the mouth of Cuckold "Oho," they have lived long on the abandoned basket of words, I marvel that thy master has not eaten thee for a word; for thou art not so long by the head as thou art by the heart thou art easier to swallow than the dragon."

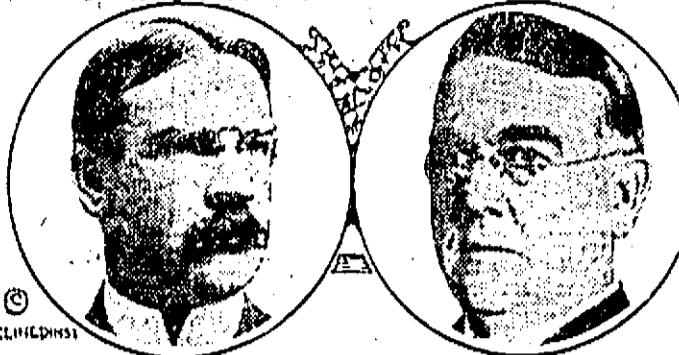

The moderns have, however, gone Shakespeare one better,—for in the Stanford dictionary may be found twenty-seven against twenty-eight letters. And it took us three hundred years to do it!

But we need not feel ashamed of ourselves,—or for Shakespeare, for that matter,—since the Germans took a word with fifty-nine letters. These, however, are mere cranks, for there is to be found in Scott's Greek Lexicon a Greek word with one hundred and seventy-six letters. It means "mug."

AN OLD REMEDY

Beef, Iron and Wine is one of the good old remedies that has outlived a score of patent tonics, reasonable in price, a satisfactory tonic, appetizer and mild stimulant. There is nothing better for that tired, worried, listless feeling or run-down condition of the system after illness of any kind. It tones the whole system, stimulates digestion, gives you appetite, is a good iron tonic for weak, pale children or old people, far more effective than malt extracts or so-called wine of cod liver oil that depend upon their stimulants alone. Beef, Iron and Wine tones and sustains, it assists nature to recuperate, it's a food to the sick and nursing mothers.

Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, prepares our Beef, Iron and Wine. It's always fresh, made from the very best extract of beef, wholesome, properly aged sherry wine and soluble iron.

We don't sell ready-made, hand-made, factory-manufactured Beef, Iron and Wine. We believe and know that medicine should be compounded by the experienced and scientifically trained.

Try a bottle of our Beef, Iron and Wine as made by Mr. Pfennig, 75¢ a full pint. Note its wholesome taste and invigorating effect. You will be more than satisfied. Get it at the Baader Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts. The drug store that makes a specialty of drugs.

Candles Still Used in Europe.
In many parts of Europe the candle business is carried on by large establishments with abundant capital. In Great Britain there was quite recently at least what we should call a candle trust that yielded good returns. Anybody who has sojourned in a very rural English town will not need to be told whence comes some of the demands for candles.

Land Values

One of the greatest economic marvels of the past twenty years has been the enormous rise in land values. Land that a score of years ago was considered worth but fifty dollars per acre is now finding buyers at double that sum and more. This condition is not only here but everywhere and that it is a fact is so evident that it need not be discussed.

Economists explain that on account of the permanency of land as an investment, capital is being guided more and more in that direction. Again that the productivity of the land is being increased by the introduction of agricultural departments into our schools and that the movement away from the land and the rapid growth of our cities tends toward a raising in the level of the prices of farm products and thus indirectly in a raise in land values.

The history of all new lands has been that land prices have risen as fast as the country has settled.

For the past ten years a vast volume of emigration has been flowing into Canada and wherever this flood has touched, the value of the land has increased from a nominal sum per acre to fifty and one hundred dollars.

PUBLICITY ORDERED BY THE STATE LAW

Doings of the School Board and Reports of Their Meetings Supposed to Be Printed.

Although there is a state law compelling the school boards to publish their proceedings, it has been many a long day since the taxpayers and the parents of Janesville have had an opportunity to read of what goes on behind the doors when the board of education holds its meetings.

"Yes, there is such a provision," said City Attorney H. L. Maxfield, "but it has been the practice of the board of education to make their report to the city council, where it is usually 'adopted and ordered published.' That is thought to relieve the school board of responsibility and the fact that there does not appear to be any penalty attached makes the provision for publication more or less optional."

"Yes, the proceedings of the Board of Education are made public," was the answer of Dr. Buckmaster, president of the board. "The proceedings are ordered printed by the city council when it adopts the report. The board has no money available for payment of such printing, and so the city council handles the matter. Each quarter a detailed statement of receipts and expenditures is made through the city treasurer's office."

While it may be true that "detailed statements of receipts and expenditures" have been published, showing this much of the activities of the school board, the question naturally arises, "Is this such a publication of the 'proceedings' of the board as is contemplated by the law?"

What matters were discussed at the last meeting? What motions made and by whom? By what vote was any important question carried, and who were aligned for and against it? No idea of the proceedings of any body possessed if the powers of the school board can be obtained from a statement of receipts and expenditures three months after such matters were acted upon. To call such a statement, a publication of the proceedings of the body is simply to bandy words.

The people of Janesville are and have the right to be interested in knowing what the school board is considering. There is a plain statutory mandate requiring publicity. To evade the responsibility involved or to shelter themselves behind the city council is not worthy of the dignity of the board, and sets a poor example to the youth of the city. At its next meeting the school board should order the publication of the proceedings in full, as is contemplated by the statute.

DETERMINING THE SOUTH POLE.

The method of determining the South pole is through an instrument known as the Sextant, fitted up with an artificial horizon. With this instrument the explorer measures the elevation of the sun above the artificial horizon, which, in the case of the Norwegian explorer, Amundsen, during his three days' stay at the South Pole, on December 14th to December 17th, was about 12 degrees. The measurement of this distance is done by the means of two mirrors, which reflect the image of the sun. At the top of the sextant is a mirror attached, as indicated in the diagram, to an arm. This arm is moved on the graduated arc until the sun's image is reflected

But the Tyro at Hunting Brought Down Two Birds, and Shot No More.

"Only once in my life did I ever do any shooting," said a traveling man, talking to a group in the cafe of one of the big New York hotels, "and that once I made a real hit. It was in a western town to which my trip had carried me, and the natives had arranged a prairie chicken hunt for the following day. Of course I was invited. I protested that I was out of practice, but they insisted that I go along, and some one furnished a gun for my use.

"As the only stranger in the party, they let me go ahead, following the dogs closely. I didn't even know what a prairie chicken looked like; whether they would run along the ground or fly. Suddenly I heard a tremendous whirr, the sound as I came to know, of the birds taking wing. So excited was I that, without raising the gun to my shoulder, I pulled the trigger. 'Bang!' went the gun, and two of the birds fluttered slowly to the ground.

"'He never even took aim,' shouted one of the hunters, and my reputation was made. Thereafter I rested on my laurels, not attempting another shot throughout the day, or ever

JANESVILLE MIGHT HAVE A NEW SCHOOL?

LAST LEGISLATURE PAVED WAY FOR INDUSTRIAL COMMERCIAL COURSE EVENINGS.

IS HARDLY PROBABLE

Demand For Such An Education Method Has Not Been Evincing By The Citizens As Yet.

"A new school for Janesville was authorized by the last legislature to be known as the 'Industrial, Commercial, Continuation and Evening School' and to be supported by the city, a special tax (not exceeding one-half mill) being levied for this purpose. After the school has been in operation eight months, if the instruction is approved by the state superintendent of education, the state will repay one-half of the amount actually expended, (but not over $3,000 for any one school)" said Dr. Buckmaster, president of the school board.

The school board to whom is entrusted the appointment of the new governing body which is to be called the "Industrial school board" had already considered the matter at the regular meeting and a committee was appointed by President Buckmaster consisting of Francis C. Grant, S. M. Smith and James Shearer to nominate the men for the new board.

The members of the local Industrial school board serve for two years and without pay. One of them must be the city superintendent of schools; two of the others must be employers of labor, and two must be employees. It is our duty to pick out the best possible men for the Industrial board, and we are finding it no easy task."

"I doubt if more than a corporal's guard could be found" said Attorney A. M. Fisher, another member of the board of education, "who would attend such schools in Janesville as the statute contemplates. We have plenty of schools now, and any additional expense would be felt severely. Efforts in the past to establish evening schools, with capable instructors and entertaining and practical courses have failed, because the young men who were trying to get off the streets simply would not come into the schools. Janesville has no large proportion of foreign population, no illiterate adults, and the need for these schools is not the same here as in other cities in the state."

James Shearer, of the committee suggested that while the statutes made it obligatory that the Industrial school board be appointed, it was only obliged to act upon the filing of a petition, signed by twenty-five qualified students that the Industrial school must be established. "It remains to be shown," said Mr. Shearer, "whether there are a sufficient number of interested people clamoring for education, who can not be cared for by our present schools, to warrant the heavy expenditures which would be entailed by the establishment of other schools."

Meanwhile public spirited citizens, whether employers or employees who shall be approved by the State Superintendent of Education, and shall include English, citizenship, sanitation and hygiene, and the use of safety devices. Whenever twenty-five persons qualified to attend an Industrial, commercial, continuation or evening school file a petition with the local board of Industrial education, the board SHALL establish such school, or provide other facilities as authorized by this act.

"Inasmuch as we now have in Janesville adequate school facilities in the way of buildings and equipment," continued Dr. Buckmaster, "there appears little likelihood of expense for additional sites or buildings, but it is in the power to secure monies from the city for carrying on the schools that puts the new board in such strong light as compared to us. If their annual report is filed with the state superintendent of schools shows to the satisfaction of that official that the law is being carried out, he will certify the same to the secretary of state who will draw a warrant in favor of the city treasurer for half of the amount expended during the year for the support and maintenance of the new schools.

"It is needless to say we have given very careful thought to the whole matter.

The committee appointed to nominate the men for the new Industrial school board have not as yet met, but will report to the board of education at its next meeting, May 6."

S. M. Smith, one of the men appointed by Dr. Buckmaster to select the names for the new board said, "The members of the local Industrial school board serve for two years and without pay. One of them must be the city superintendent of schools;

CASING WEATHER IS VERY BADLY NEEDED

Considerable Portion of 1911 Tobacco Crop Still to Be Taken From the Poles.

Not a few tobacco growers in all parts of the country have their 1911 crop still hanging in the sheds and are anxiously awaiting ending weather. With the exception of a few moist days had wet the only spell of ending weather was during December when most of the crop was in good condition for handling. In some places the leaves were too wet for handling then and growers were forced in many cases in allowing the crop to hang. There has been no satisfactory case weather since, however, and with the rush of spring work coming on many farmers are not little little embarrassed. It is stated that one fourth of the crop is still hanging in some of the northern sections.

A moderate amount of buying is being conducted, according to the Elgin Tobacco Reporter, which states that it begins to look as if there would be something left over for summer trading in the remnants back in country hands.

The large operators are still readying their purchases as rapidly as their storage facilities will permit.

Rumors are about of the sale of a few packings of new goods for the account of a large manufacturing concern, but particular care are not obtainable. A large lot of "10" grade, packed by Johnson at Morristown, has been sold to A. S. Flagg, H. T. Sweeney sold a large lot of old leaf.

Spring is advancing slowly and nothing yet has been done towards the laying of seed beds.

The shipments out of storage reach 500 cases and 11 carloads of bundles from this market to all points for the week. Since last report 18 carloads have been received for warehouse handling.

Would Not Part With Dog.

Not only in England and America, but in Germany, fanciers pay high prices for dogs. At the recent exhibition of dogs at Chassel a Frenchman offered $2,000 for a police dog. The dog belongs to Sergeant Dacker, who refused the tempting offer, observing that his dog should not quit Germany at any price.

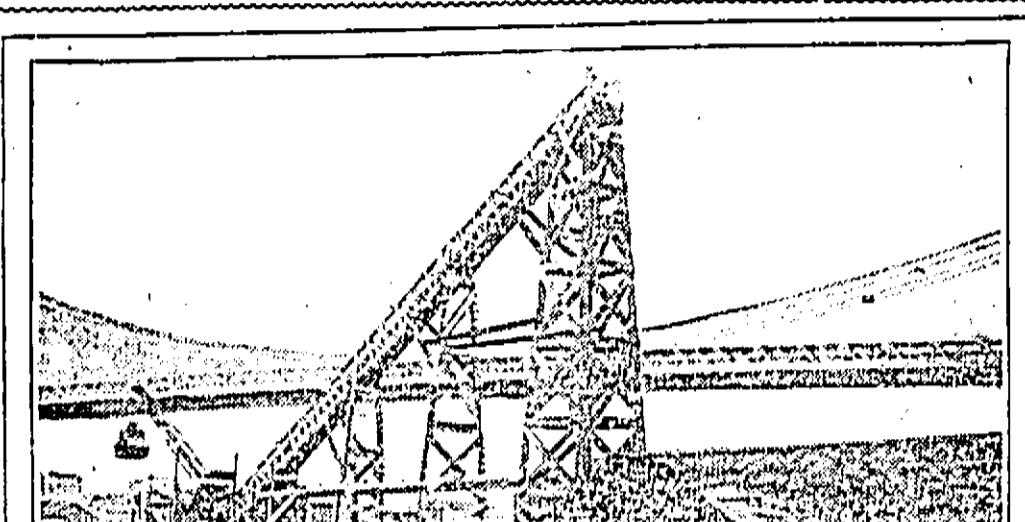

Cultivate Presence of Mind.

Presence of mind is greatly dependent on knowing what is best to do under conditions or alarm or danger. If this knowledge is acquired, a very moderate amount of courage and some common sense will enable persons to act with discretion and consequent safety in very trying circumstances.

PEDDLING COAL BY THE HUNDREDWEIGHT ON STREETS OF LONDON.

London, England—So severe has become the crisis owing to the coal strike that coal dealers are peddling out their wares by the hundredweight. Just about in a hawker would sell vegetables on the street and over the cart is a sign calling attention to the "bargain in coal" at a price heretofore unheard of and to the ominous fact that there is "none to be had next week."
